..AND THE BATTLE AGAINST POVERTY BY SUPPORTING ? THE WAR ON WANT ?

WAR ON WANT is the only major charity in Britain actively fighting unemployment and poverty both at home and the Third World.

It supports practical and progressive projects. Such as workers co-ops in Britain, Nicaragua and India, Community health schemes in Zimbabwe, Central America and Central London. And humanitarian aid to the people of war-torn El Salvador.

It is also pressing to halt the dangerous promotion of baby foods in the Third World.

These and its other projects cost War on Want a lot of money. In two years it has spent £800,000 on project work and a quarter of this funding was used in Britain.

If the War on Want is to continue this vital work, it must raise an extra £250,000 - urgently.

That is why it has launched its biggest ever appeal.

Working people everywhere are being asked to contribute one hour or more of their pay to the War on Want. Already hundreds have responded to the call, together with scores of MPs, trade union leaders and celebrities.

Those who have contributed include Michael Foot, Moss Evans, Jim Callaghan, Shirley Williams, Bill Sirs, Joe Gormley and Cyril Smith... Farmers, Doctors, Printers, Secretaries, Railwaymen and Bakers, Denis Waterman, Dame Peggy Ashcroft, Jon Snow and Billie Whitelaw...

But this isn't just a campaign to raise funds. It is part of a movement to show real solidarity with the unemployed and the poor and to work alongside them in the battle for a fairer deal.

Your backing is needed now to support practical measures which will hit back hard against poverty and unemployment. Send your contribution and order for campaign materials by filling in the coupon. Help the War on Want in its hour of need!

Unemployment now the poverty disaster of the 1980s in Britain and the Third World. War on Want is fighting back by supporting workers co-ops and centres for the unemployed in Britain and development projects throughout the world.
