FEATURES

7 The Retreat into Extremism—Eric Hobsbawm

The Left is trying to get its act together. Splendid isolation is not the answer.

15 The Case for the Defence • James Hinton

The peace movement has proved remarkably resilient. Nevertheless the last election was a major setback for it, and the next one is beginning to loom on the horizon. The time is ripe for something new.

21 The Miners' Strike: A Balance Sheet • A Roundtable Discussion

The outcome of the miners' strike was a major setback. Now is the time to ask some questions.

28 NUM United: A Team in Disarray—Hywel Francis

A remarkable strike, unequalled this century. But from the beginning it was dogged by division and disunity.

36 Labouring Women • Interview with Frances Morrell

Until now feminism has made little impact on the Labour Party. But things are beginning to change.

THE BATTLE FOR LONDON

Francis Wheen

The Battle for London is on! Before Ken Livingstone, 'local government' was a phrase that made people yawn. The GLC changed all that. The Battle for London explains the issues at stake.

Francis Wheen, a presenter for the BBC's News Stand, sets out the facts and the options—and lets you decide.
