The Far Horizons

1987 - HOLIDAY SPECIALS

Some of the most exciting and different places brought together in a beautiful colour catalogue.

These are only some highlights:

CUBA JAZZ FESTIVAL

Havana and Varadero, 16th to February to 2nd March plus programme of studies and holiday tours in Spring and Summer. Special tours and study courses for groups (min. ten), and free-ranging individual travel available at any time.

TRANS-SIBERIAN SPECIAL

Eighteen days by air to Moscow and Trans-Siberian train to Irkutsk, then air to Tashkent, Samarkand and Bukhara, 4th to 21st March; £398 inclusive. Stunning scenery. A lifetime experience.

EASTER IN THE USSR

Art and architecture tour to Moscow, Pskov and Leningrad; Education tours for teachers to Moscow, Kalinin and Leningrad.

BULGARIA

Not what you might expect. Superb beaches, warm sea, fine hotels and inexpensive fare make this holiday a must for Summer '87. Go progressive!

MARATHONS ABROAD

A programme of marathon and other tours for runners. Prepare now for the projected Sahara Marathon in Algeria, 21st to 28th February, and for Moscow Peace Marathon in early August.

RUSSIAN LANGUAGE COURSES IN THE USSR

Year-round programme of one and three-month courses in the USSR. 3 month courses commence mid-April in Kiev, Krasnodar and Zaporozhye. Our 1987 programme of courses in spring, summer and autumn is now available.

USSR Regional Studies. A new programme of 1-month courses designed to combine Soviet studies in politics, economics and sociology with an optional Russian language content.

CITY BREAKS

Regular one-week and weekend holidays in Moscow and Leningrad, Budapest and Prague from £165 inc. Wide range of other Western European city visits - from Paris £79 by air to only £55 for coach weekends. We offer computerised booking for all skiing, cruise and package holidays; and all air and ferry tickets. Travel at short notice and we can often offer ultra-bargains on unsold seats.

SPECIALIST TRAVEL

We specialise in organising group study tours and holidays with a purpose for student, labour movement or school groups, particularly to the USSR and Eastern Europe, Algeria, France, Italy and Cuba. Phone or write to Paco Norall or Landon Temple for details.

Is the Iran contra scandal another Watergate? Charles Wheeler looks at the similarities and the differences

Banking with Botha: the boycott campaign after Barclays

A Picture of Two Worlds: consumer spending continues to surge, but so do bad debts

Genesis: should women have abortions without the father's consent?

Scottish rates reform: blueprint for a poll tax

Philippines: Mrs Aquino's precarious balancing act is far from over

BEALINE

Beatrix Campbell argues that it's time for the British Left to take the European Community seriously

10
Electoral concerns; childcare, sex and the YTS; families; love and politics; Sinn Fein; and misogynist money

FEATURES

12 Love in a Cold Climate

The Aids virus has produced moral and social side effects that could transform our sexual relationships. Jeffrey Weeks traces the course of the disease

18 The Sid In Us All

The British Gas sale may have disappointed the government. But, argues Charlie Leadbeater, the privatisation campaign has ushered in a profound shift in attitudes to share ownership

24 The Cult of The Gun

One person's freedom fighter is another's terrorist. In an age of escalating political violence, Fred Halliday argues that we should avoid romanticising terrorism

31 Band Aid: Is That It?

Band Aid transformed the politics of aid. Two years on, Bob Geldof talks to Noll Scott about where it should go from here

34 The Community of Women

The European Community is emerging as a progressive force on women's rights. Catherine Hoskyns examines the relationship between women and the Community

An Invitation to Subscribe to New Left Review

'NLR is one of the very few British magazines still striving to extend Marxist analysis, to deepen opposition . . . In an intellectual climate where marketing has swamped political imagination NLR is a valuable exception.' Malcolm Imrie, New Statesman, November 1986

'The NLR has gained its ascendancy amongst the marxisant left for two reasons. The first is the intellectual distinction of those who have been most closely associated with it . . . the NLR has broken down the walls of barbarian indifference with which the British Left used to regard non-Soviet Marxism, and has done an excellent educational job. It has also provided consistently sophisticated and well-informed reporting on almost every corner of the globe — and it has done all this without neglecting the indigenous radicalism of writers like Thompson and Raymond Williams. To this it has added a commitment to free speech and dissent in socialist countries.'

Alan Ryan, TLS, November 1985

'These days China's theoreticians follow the debates in New Left Review . . .' John Gittings, The Guardian, May 1986

' . . . avoids the flatulence of so much post-politics . . .' City Limits, June 1984

'Arguably the finest Marxist journal published in any language' Times of India, 24 February 1985

New Left Review, published from London every two months since 1960, is a journal of socialist politics and culture which combines analysis, criticism, polemic, reportage, with reviews, notes and comments.

NLR is debating the economics of feasible socialism; in 159 Mandel replied to earlier articles by Nove and Brus

NLR has published Raphael Samuel's brilliant evocation of The Lost World of British Communism (in 154, 156) a third instalment will appear in 161

NLR identifies in depth the historical roots of British capitalist decline: Colin Leys in 160, Perry Anderson (forthcoming)

NLR's international survey of the women's movement has recently covered Greece (158) and Germany (155), next women in the middle east (161)

NLR has published searching studies of the Greens (152), the PCI (153) and the Spanish Socialists (156)
