Anyone can sell you a bicycle, there are some good discounts to be had if you shop around and some dreams available at the right price. But the bicycle is the sum of its parts and maybe some of the parts are less than adequate or conversely too expensive for your real needs.

Mosquito has something other than bikes. We keep a substantial stock of knowledge and craftsmanship which, when combined with the right accessories, make your purchase however small the correct choice.

Obviously our prices reflect the quality of components offered and the time taken to make your cycling trouble free.

So whether you require a cable end cap or a complete service we would be happy to show you around, and if you should require . . .

... we also sell bikes.
