

AMONG OUR CONTRIBUTORS

Michael Barratt-Brown is a W.E.A. lecturer in Essex, has studied international trade problems since leaving U.N.R.R.A. in 1948, and has a book in preparation on international trade in the post-war decade. Cedric Belfrage is editor-in-exile of the American progressive newsweekly, 'The National Guardian,' and author of 'The Frightened Giant.' Gordon Cruikshank, novelist and political journalist, has recently returned from two years in Poland, where he worked for the radio and also acted as 'Daily Worker' Polish correspondent. Christopher Hill, the noted seventeenth century historian and Marxist scholar, is a Fellow of Balliol College, Oxford. Mervyn Jones, novelist and member of the staff of 'Tribune,' was a Labour candidate at the last election, is co-author with Michael Foot of 'Guilty Men, 1957,' and has recently published a new novel on the theme of the H-Bomb, 'On the Last Day.' Alan Pickard has been active in trade union education for the last twelve years and is at present responsible for education in a national trade union. Konni Zilliacus is Member of Parliament for Gorton, Chairman of the Foreign and Commonwealth Relations group of Victory for Socialism, and among recent publications he has a vigorous pamphlet, 'Mutiny against Madness,' and a study of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, 'A New Birth of Freedom?' Michael Segal, who translates Claude Roy's polemic, is a social worker, and secretary of the U. & L.R. Club.

For notes and acknowledgments please turn to the inside back cover.

JEWES and the NATIONAL QUESTION

toy

PROFESSOR HYMAN LEVY

THE AUTHOR, famous as a scientist and Marxist philosopher, provides a brilliant and controversial analysis of the position of the Jews in the Soviet Union, and Israel.

A MUST for Jew and non-Jew interested in Socialism and the Jewish Question.

HILLWAY PUBLISHING CO.

5 Hillway, London, N.6.

96 pages.

4/6d.